

PRIVACY ALERT

Significant changes to the Privacy Act 1988 (the “Act”) came into effect from 12 March 2014. Adams Auto Group is committed to protecting the privacy of those who deal with it and complying with the Act. Adams Auto Group has made important changes to its privacy policies.

Adams Auto Group’s obligations and individuals’ rights as to how Adams Auto Group is generally able to collect, use, disclose and protect information about individuals who deal with Adams Auto Group are set by the Australian Privacy Principles (“APPs”). Accordingly, Adams Auto Group has a new APP Privacy Policy that reflects the APPs in terms of Adams Auto Group’s obligations and individuals’ rights under the APPs.

Additionally, insofar as Adams Auto Group may be able to collect, use, disclose and protect information about individuals in connection with Adams Auto Group’s activities as a credit provider, Adams Auto Group has a new Credit Reporting Privacy Policy.

Both policies include information about:

- what kinds of personal information is collected, how it is collected and for what purposes;
- how Adams Auto Group may use or disclose such information;
- how an individual may access the information about the individual held by Adams Auto Group;
- how an individual may seek the correction of personal information about the individual that is held by Adams Auto Group;
- how an individual may complain about a failure of Adams Auto Group to comply with its obligations under the Act and how Adams Auto Group will deal with such a complaint;
- whether Adams Auto Group is likely to disclose information about individuals to any overseas entities.

You may view our privacy policies at our web site at:

1 www.sunspares.com.au; and

2 www.sunshinecoast4wdwreckers.com.au